

Party options for tweens and young teens who love a puzzling adventure!

Introducing our new party-ready game: Waking Whatsername

The Games

Age Group Mix

Mission to Winchintzy - the broadest mix of puzzle types. Can you recover the lost blueprint in this strange world where things look familiar but work quite differently?

A Curious Inheritance - can you find out how to stabilise the ClueCapers portals among this curious collection of other worldly artefacts? A game for real puzzle enthusiasts.

Treehouse 2: Going Wild! - an inter-dimensional research trip to the Darwinsonian Treetops Research Station to assess progress and oversee the Prof's experiments.

Vexed in Venta - an outdoor game of escape game style puzzles to unlock the layers of our unique puzzle boxes, using clues found in the cathedral grounds.

Waking Whatsername - our first game with a version for younger players. A romp around the cathedral grounds with a mix of curious puzzles to unlock the mysterious security box.

The Party Package

Adds to an outdoor game of Waking Whatsername for up to 8 children:

- A dedicated gamesmaster party host

Though we never set out to make escape games for children, our games assume no outside knowledge and really rely on innate problem solving skills. It turns out that sharp young eyes, a sense of adventure and a good dose of imagination mean many children make very enthusiastic and capable escapees!

The biggest challenges for our younger escapees are teamwork and communication which is where their actively-participating adult comes in! We will keep an eye on the team's progress (remotely) and offer additional hints where needed but we need you to help hold the team together - make sure discoveries and ideas are shared regularly and the team decides together what they might try next.

Where we require an adult to be on site (indoor games) or present (outdoor games) that is because we cannot take responsibility for your children beyond providing entertainment.

Booking online for parties:

- If booking for a group of 14/15 year olds please book for the correct total number of players including one adult (though in fact that adult will be in the briefing room while another teen takes their place.)
- Please let us know whose birthday is being celebrated so we can add in a little birthday message!
